A CRITIQUE OF ROSSISM:

What happens when the Word of Nature eclipses the Word of God?

Thane Hutcherson Ury

Tuesday, May 21, 1996, 7:30 p.m. Totino Fine Arts Center, Rm 115, Northwestern College, Roseville

Thane Hutcherson Ury grew up 15 years in Asia. After completing seminary in 1986 he pastored in Chinatown, NY for 2 years. For the past 7 years he has taught Philosophy and Bible at Bethel College in Indiana. He is currently in his fifth and final year of Ph.D. studies at Andrews University. His Doctoral dissertation is on the problem of paleo-natural evil in the fossil record and its impact upon God's goodness as creator. While not affirming the modern flood-denying interpretation of the fossil record, he is asking what kind of God would be implied in Theistic evolution and Progressive Creation. Since secular science agrees that evolution is prodigiously wasteful, with whole species serving as roadkill on the evolutionary highway, one is led to ask how a Christian can affirm that the God who does not forget the sparrow could have deliberately chosen hundreds of millions of years of nature "red in tooth and claw" as a method of creation.

He has been a card-carrying creation junkie for a decade. He, Laura and their four kids live in South Bend.

TCCSA's STATEMENT OF BELIEF

We believe in God: The Father, Son and Holy Spirit. We believe that the Bible is the inspired Word of God, and that all of its assertions are historically and scientifically true in the original autographs; this means that the account of origins in Genesis is a factual presentation of actual historical truths.

We believe that the origin of matter and all basic types of living things, including man, came about through direct creative acts of God during the six-day creation week described in Genesis. Whatever biological changes have occurred since the creation week have accomplished only changes within the created kinds.

We believe that the great flood described in Genesis, commonly referred to as the Noachian Flood, was an historic event, worldwide in extent and effect.

We accept the account of the special creation of Adam and Eve as the first man and woman. Their subsequent fall into sin, by disobedience of God's direct command, is the basis for our belief in the necessity of a Savior for all mankind.

Therefore, we believe that Jesus Christ is our Lord and only
