"We have enough information. It's time to apply what we know to reach others. Brian Lauer has started two Bible clubs at secular colleges, and hopes to start Creation Clubs on every campus in the Twin Cities. See if you would like to be part of this exciting adventure, or learn some techniques to apply to your own ministry. Hear what it's like on a public campus, and realize our message is just as valid as anyone else's message. Plus, learn questions that help atheists admit that they have faith, too."
